Experienced On-Premise Promotions Balloon Entertainer

Are you trying to do...

- Draw Crowds
- Educate customers about your products
- Generate leads and increase signups
- Encourage customers to sample the product

Then you need to create a marketing campaign that follows no rules, but generate the results you're looking for.

Don't make the Rookie mistake.

- Hire a model, great to look at from any distance, but doesn't draw crowds.
- Hire a college kid to push literature in the face of perspective customers.

On-Premise Promotions is about gathering crowds, getting your message heard, signing people up, and with that you need to have a crowd gathering entertainer.

Balloons do just that!

They draw people to you and your product, which allows Magical Balloon-dude Dale to make your on-premise promotion standout and be remembered.

Dale's skills will combined balloon twisting, comedy, and your product information into a sales presentation that customers will remember.

I have Masters Degree in Communication and I know the importance of relaying a message to people. Keep it fun, exciting, and fresh-- and people will remember the event for months.

Interactive promotions work! Hiring a pretty model is great if your selling sex, college kids pushing fliers on people is just annoying and waste of literature. Hire Dale and he will do this...

1. He will draw the crowd to him.
2. He will present your product or service in a manner that will get leads, sign people up, and move product!
3. He will make your program unique and make competitors jealous that they did not do this first!

Dale is willing to work with you on developing a killer marketing campaign, a program that works for you and accomplishes your goals. As a team we can do anything and can do it successfully. Contact Dale today to start a new exciting on-premise promotion today.
